

The integration of infrastructures, tools and methodologies. The objective is to integrate existing research infrastructure, tools and methodologies from NESSoS partners, and to provide access to a common workbench, a shared facility for European institutions thereby creating new opportunities for research, learning and experimentation. The workbench that is going to be created will also be open to third-party tools and experimentation.