

A strong contribution to European education, dissemination and spreading of excellence. The objective is to inspire and affect a Europe-wide common program of education and training for researchers (both masters and PhD students) and industry that will foster the alignment and integration of European competence and knowledge and that will ensure the durability of its impact.